Commercial real estate is a business based on relationships, smart dealmaking and—most importantly—the talents, ingenuity and ambitions of the people who make a career out of this field. In honor of our 70th Anniversary, the editors of FORUM have compiled a healthy roster of some of the most influential executives in the business. Here's a look at some of the dominators and innovators who have helped to shape the industry over the past few decades, and will do so for years to come.

ANGELA G. MAGO

Angela Mago has been co-head of Corporate Bank, head of KeyBank Real Estate Capital, executive VP and member of executive council at KeyCorp. Mago has been executive vice president and head of KeyBank Real Estate Capital Markets Division at KeyBank Real Estate Capital since October 2011. In her 28 years at Key, she has been involved in real estate and healthcare finance. Previously, Mago served as the national manager for KeyBank Real Estate Capital's healthcare group and she built the business that includes a national sales force and a $2 billion healthcare portfolio. Recently, Mago was named co-head of Key Corporate Bank, also leading KeyBank Real Estate Capital. She is on the board of directors of National Investment Center and Neighborhood Progress Inc. of Cleveland and serves as a member of the Catalyst Inc. Expert Community. Mago was the 2011 chair of the Key Executive Women's Network and a 2012 YWCA Woman of Professional Excellence.
